Week 10

1

1.1

6

1.2

Information, data, and other communications are converted from one protocol or format to another through the gateway.

The gateway is default

1.3

A routing table is a collection of rules that determines where data packets going over an Internet Protocol (IP) network will be directed. It is commonly presented in table format.

3

2

Yes

all